My name is Tim Seabury and I am an amateur artist and mosaic maker. Having worked in education all my life, I have now retired here to Paphos, Cyprus and have time to follow those pursuits that have eluded me over many years!!

Although I have been using watercolours, in particular, for many years, I now feel I am getting to grips with this media and feel able to exhibit my work to the general public.

Some of these paintings are being exhibited at other venues at the moment.

I hope you enjoy looking at my work and many thanks for taking the time to do so.
